VELCRO® Brand products are well-loved around the world, adhering and fastening everything from roof panels to diapers, and known for their familiar and reassuring fastening sound. Hook and loop is part of our everyday language and indispensable to our daily lives. It is omnipresent and is re-invented for new uses on a daily basis.

VELCRO® Brand fasteners have evolved extensively in the 60-plus years since its invention and even accompanied the first man on the moon, securing components of Neil Armstrong's space suit on his famous 1969 trip.

VELCRO® Brand Hook and loop fasteners and now hook to hook fasteners are featured in products around the world, ranging from transportation to personal care, apparel and outerwear, as well as packaging. With advanced custom capabilities, Velcro Companies often tailor their hook and loop to address customers' unique needs and demands in the fastening industry.

VELCRO® Brand fasteners can be water resistant and used for heavy-duty fastening or to simply affix a piece of a child's artwork to a wall. Its applications are as endless as we can imagine and provide a nearly limitless array of Amazing Connections™ as pioneers in hook and loop fastener technology. In addition to this, VELCRO® Brand are the original patent holder of U.S. Patent 2,717,437 filed on October 15, 1952.
